The finest destinations leave an impression long after the journey has ended! This unique offering does exactly that. Set high in the mountains of Costa Rica's Lake Arenal region, this remarkable hospitality estate offers a rare balance of connection, privacy and natural beauty, creating experiences that remain with guests long after they leave. Reaching the estate is part of the experience. As the road gradually climbs into the mountains of the Lake Arenal region, cooler air, expansive views and the quiet beauty of the surrounding landscape create a natural transition from the pace of everyday life to a place designed for rest, reflection and connection. At the heart of the estate is the main house, the gathering place where guests come together to cook, dine, relax and share the day's experiences before returning to the privacy of their own villa. Long communal dinners become part of the experience, whether it is a relaxed potluck shared among family and friends or a beautifully prepared farm-to-table meal created by a private chef using fresh ingredients harvested from the estate's own gard
